To Whom it May Concern,

We are pleased to write a letter for Steve Croce.

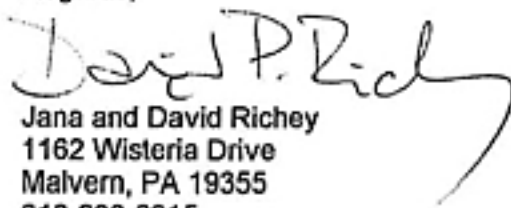

We have enjoyed Steve as a disc jockey for many years at an annual event hosted by our friends. As a result, we selected Steve to manage the music for our only daughter's wedding. From the beginning he was professional, friendly, organized and cooperative. He kept us informed of all the milestones that required our participation and listened carefully to our requests and needs. Our Father/ Daughter dance was not on the music list and Steve went out of his way to accomodate us.

The evening was a great success due to his conscientous participation. The music during the cocktail hour and dinner was tuned down to allow guests to converse and enjoy each others company while still having background music. The introductions of the wedding party were beautifully staged and the result was a smooth flow through the toasts and the Father/Daughter and Mother/Son dances.

When the time came for dancing, Steve created an ingenious plan to get everyone on the dance floor and then "struck up the band". Everyone applauded. The dance music was well balanced and the sound quality great. Steve could sense the mood of the group and we extended our event just to let everyone keep dancing. We were thrilled and have received several requests for Steve's card for future affairs.

Please feel free to contact us if you have any questions.
